Message from the President

Maryann F. Ramos, MPH, PA-C Emeritus

It was a pleasure to meet with my PA colleagues during the recent PAEA Forum in Washington, DC. The PAHx Trustees and staff enjoyed speaking with PA faculty regarding the educational resources that the Society has developed for those who teach the history of the profession. I also enjoyed participating with the Project Access group, which visited students at a local DC STEM high school. In addition to speaking with these bright young students, we joined them as they celebrated Latino Heritage month in the school auditorium. I donated copies of the Society's popular "Gasoline Alley" comic book for the students to learn about the exciting adventures of Chipper Wallet, PA-C!

I thank everyone who joined the PA History Society for our group visit to the National Museum of African American History & Culture just prior to the PAEA Forum. The museum exhibits offer a historical reminder of the African American values, like resiliency, optimism and spirituality, and how they shaped our country's history and culture.

During the PAEA Forum, I joined many others who visited Capitol Hill. Christopher Stewart (Director of AAPA's State Advocacy group) and I met with Ross Dietrich, the Puerto Rico Legislative Director, regarding the PA Law 71 that was passed in Puerto Rico last year, although it has not yet been implemented.

Lastly, as I complete my tenure as Board President this year, I would like to thank the PAHx Trustees and staff for their work and dedication in preserving and sharing the legacy of the PA profession.

History of PAs in the Indian Health Service, in the beginning...

LCDR Benjamin Olmedo, IHS Chief Clinical Consultant for PAs

As the Chief Clinical Consultant for Physician Assistants, I believe it is important to increase knowledge and awareness about opportunities to meet the critical healthcare needs of underserved and vulnerable populations. As someone who cares equally deeply about the health of indigenous people and the physician assistant (PA) profession, I believe there are unique opportunities for PAs to improve healthcare outcomes by using optimal team-based practice and empowering PAs to serve in leadership positions. This article is a first step, for we can only know where we are going if we understand where we have been.

The full history of the Indian Health Service is beyond the scope of this article, but it is important to understand that innovation and resourcefulness, coupled with federal legislation and tribal sovereignty, have been vital to improving the health of tribal communities and addressing multiple healthcare disparities.<sup>1,2,3</sup> One example is the early adoption of the PA model through the Community Health Medic (CHM) program, which was based on prior experiences developing and implementing the successful Community Health Representative (CHR) and Community Health Aide Programs (CHAP).<sup>1</sup>

CHRs were created to provide health outreach, education, first aid and home health care services within tribal communities. In contrast, CHAPs were selected from within their local rural villages and trained to provide basic healthcare with the guidance and supervision of a physician – often provided remotely via radio communication. These two programs were the building blocks for the CHM program, in which American Indian and Alaska Native veterans who served as combat medics or corpsman in Vietnam were trained as healthcare providers to serve tribal communities. The initial concept of the CHM program, as described in Caring and Curing: A History of the Indian Health Service, was to extend health services to remote locations, where it was hard to retain a physician. The Community Health Medic Program did so by training and supporting CHMs to work independently as “general practitioners” to provide primary, preventative and emergency care to tribal communities while expediting referrals for more complex medical cases. CHMs could also be assigned to IHS hospitals to increase efficiency and allow physicians to focus on the more complex medical cases.

The first class of 30 CHMs began training in 1971, with a class of 10 at Phoenix Indian Medical Center and 20 at Gallup Indian Medical Center. The graduates of the inaugural class of 1973 were assigned as physician assistants to IHS hospitals and remote clinic sites. Many CHMs became the most trusted, respected and preferred health care providers in their communities.<sup>1</sup> The CHM training program was eventually phased out in the early 1980’s due to a decreasing number of veteran applicants and the impact of the Indian Health Care Improvement Act of 1976. That Act authorized funding for healthcare professional training at institutions of higher learning. However, during its brief tenure, the CHM program bridged healthcare gaps and validated the concept that PAs can work independently and autonomously in some of the most remote and challenging locations where PAs continue to serve today.

In Her Own Words: Deborah Atherton Gerbert, MS, PA-C

Marilyn Fitzgerald, Honorary PA

Debi Gerbert has served on the PA History Society Board of Trustees since 2015, serving as the Board Secretary-Treasurer from 2017-2018 and Board President-Elect during calendar year 2019. When she assumes the presidency on January 1, 2020, Debi will be the chief volunteer leader of the PAHx, serving as the chief spokesperson, representing the interests of the Society and overseeing the implementation of the Society's bylaws, vision, mission and strategic plan. Debi has over 35 years of other PA professional leadership experience with the American Academy of Physician Assistants – Student Academy Secretary (1988-89), House of Delegates Speaker (1991-93) and President (1994-95); Florida Academy of Physician Assistants – President (1984-85); Physician Assistant Foundation – Treasurer (2015-17) among other multiple committee and professional health organization appointments. She and her husband Jeff are parents to adult daughter, Kim, and live in sunny Florida. Her biography may be found here on the PAHX website.

As you embark on the PAHx presidency in January 2020, what ONE project are you most interested in implementing?

I am most excited about completion of the new PA history book. It will describe many facets of the profession's history as it relates to a common theme, which you will have to read to discover. I am in awe of the amount of work the volunteer editor and authors are committing to this project.

You've been a leader in the PA profession for over 35 years. What leadership achievement gives you the most satisfaction?

I have held many varying leadership roles since my student years in 1979. The years I am proudest of were spent as Speaker of the House of Delegates. It was very exciting to lead the group of representatives from across the country in debating policies affecting the profession. We have shaped the profession and made it what it is today by the debates and actions taken there.

Your PA clinical work has focused on pediatrics. What drew you to that specialty?

I have only ever worked in pediatrics mostly because of the joy I receive interacting with children. They are just fun to be around. Children rarely feign illness; you can trust what they say and can tell when they are feeling better. And most of the conditions they develop that bring them to your attention are not iatrogenic, like in adults.

What is your favorite PA history memory?

My favorite PA history moment was when the state of Mississippi finally signed legislation giving PAs the right to practice there. We finally were recognized in all 50 states! That was a big moment.

PA History Society Co-Founder and Historian Emeritus Receives PAEA Lifetime Achievement Award!

Lori Konopka-Sauer, BS

PA History Society's Co-Founder and Historian Emeritus Reginald Carter, PhD, PA, received the prestigious 2019 PAEA Lifetime Achievement Award during the PAEA Forum which was held this past October in Washington, DC. Dr. Carter has spent 45 years educating, working with, and advocating for the PA profession. As an early PA educator, Carter has supported and facilitated many causes that have made the PA concept one of the greatest medical innovations of the 20th century. As co-founder of the PA History Society, Carter had the foresight to preserve the unique and rich history of the PA profession and understood the importance of sharing that history with the growing PA population, noting that to advance the profession you must first know its past. Always forward thinking, Carter became concerned about making sure the history of the profession would be kept for future generations. This led to him creating the Physician Assistant History Office at Duke in 2001. In 2002, Carter and J. Jeffrey Heinrich co-founded the Society for the Preservation of Physician Assistant History (known as the PA History Society). Carter served as the executive director and historian of the Society from 2002 – 2007. Under Carter’s leadership, the PA History Society grew substantially, and for his pioneering efforts, the Society bestowed upon him the title of Historian Emeritus in 2008. Please click on Dr. Carter’s biography here to learn more about his contributions to the PAHx and the PA profession and to watch his PAEA Lifetime Achievement Award acceptance speech.

Indian Health Service PAs Today

CDR Tim McCreary

As of 2019, there are approximately 250 physician assistants (PAs) meeting the health care needs of American Indians and Alaska Natives in the Indian Health Service (IHS), which includes 40 Commissioned Corps Officers and 70 Civil Service PAs. These PAs fill multiple clinical roles in multi-disciplinary hospitals, urban health centers, rural and remote critical access hospitals as well as serving as the sole medical providers in rural village clinics. Just because these PAs work in geographic isolation does not mean they work alone; IHS provides needed support and instruction to PAs wherever they work, and PAs are well prepared to meet these challenges.

Physician assistants working in the IHS are essential members of a multidisciplinary team fulfilling the daily mission of care provision. The same time they improve the quality of medical care provided to American Indians and Alaska Natives, many of whom suffer from illnesses and diseases at rates several times higher than the overall US population.<sup>1-3</sup> In these roles they offer comprehensive care, continuity of care, coordination of care and are fully engaged in the quality improvement process.

PAs are trained to recognize their limits and to collaborate with other health care providers, including physicians, to deliver safe and effective health care that is consistent with the standards of care. There is growing evidence that care provided by PAs, in collaboration with physicians, enjoys the same or better outcomes as care provided by physicians alone.<sup>4-6</sup>

IHS recently published an expanded Scope of Practice policy that supports the many roles of PAs within the IHS in performing clinical and educational, administrative, and supervisory duties.<sup>7</sup> With this change, IHS is recognizing PAs as autonomous medical providers. This allows PAs to practice at the full scope of their experience and training, acknowledging them as fully responsible for the care they provide. Essentially, the updated IHS PA Scope of Practice policy is returning to the initial concept created for the first PAs trained to work in the IHS under the Community Health Medic program.<sup>8</sup>

IHS values the high quality and cost-effective care provided by PAs and recognizes the importance of continuing medical education (CME) in keeping them current. The new physician assistant chapter in the Indian Health Manual expresses that commitment by directing facilities to fund CME activities for each PA provider.

IHS now offers PAs a number of benefits to aid in recruitment and retention of these valuable providers. The incentives include loan repayment, competitive salaries, relocation allowance, and even retention bonuses (at qualifying locations).

There are 2.2 million Native Americans who live in metropolitan, urban, and rural settings that IHS serves. Regardless of where they live, IHS PAs fill an essential role in the ongoing mission “to raise the physical, mental, social, and spiritual health of American Indians and Alaska Natives to the highest level.”<sup>1</sup>

The Indian Health Service presents a remarkable opportunity for a PA who is looking for stimulating clinical work that makes a powerful positive impact on an underserved population, in a supportive and collaborative environment.

Mission: To share the history of the development of the PA profession and illustrate how PAs continue to make a difference in our society.

Vision: The PA History Society brings PA history to life by inspiring the next generation of PAs, patients and policymakers.

What are you reading right now?

I am in a book club with neighborhood women and am reading the assigned book, You Against Us by Frederick Bachman. We read the book Beartown, to which this is a sequel. I also love John Grisham and never miss one of his.

Who is your hero and why?

I do not have a hero that I have personally met, but someone I consider a hero is Nelson Mandela. His strength of character and commitment to a cause in the face of adversity is beyond belief. I admire how he could be so positive and forgiving given his life circumstances.

What do you do in your spare time?

In my spare time I enjoy being outside. I like to play golf, ride my bike, go to the beach, and walk our dog. I have lived most of my life in Florida and these are activities we can do year-round.

What advice would you give your younger self related to fun?

I had plenty of fun in my youth and need no advice in that area! I should probably ask my younger self for advice now.

What inspires you today?

I am a positive, optimistic person by nature. Today I am inspired by the cool weather that has finally made its way to north Florida. But deeper than that, I am inspired by many things. My co-workers in the hospital are inspiring as they care for children 24/7. I am inspired by the individuals running for the Democratic Presidential nomination as they demonstrate their commitment to change in Washington and across the country. And I am inspired by athletes in all sports who work hard, excel at something and entertain us.

If you were granted three wishes, what would they be?

To play a par round of golf, have all children born to parents who love and appreciate them, and for everyone to be kind to one another.

From the Archives: Stories from PAs

Michelle Schabowski, MSIS, PAHx Archivist

The PA History Society is not only an archive of things but also an archive of stories. These stories can be found on our website in the form of oral history interviews, in biographies, but also in memoirs.

On the Collection and Exhibits page of our website, you may read many inspiring stories written by PAs, such as:

John Braun writes of his encounters with President John F. Kennedy in My Two Days with JFK.

The formation of the AAPA Veterans Caucus is told in A Firsthand Account of the Founding of the AAPA Veterans Caucus by Kenneth Harbert. Harbert also tells the story of The Creation of God Loves the Grunt, the painting that became synonymous with the Veterans Caucus, and the Origin of the Veterans Caucus Awards Plaque.

Lt Michael Muni and Capt Robin Hunter-Buskey tell the story of Liberian PA Alvin Davis and the 2015 Ebola Outbreak in Physician Assistants the World Over: Alvin's Story.

Dr. Eugene Stead Jr. might be known as the “father” of the physician assistant profession, but Ann Bliss introduces us to the profession’s “uncle” in Physician Assistant Pioneer: William G. Anlyan.

The partnership that inspired the PA profession is recounted by PAHx Historian Emeritus Reginald Carter in A Prototypical MD/PA Practice.

There are many more stories on our Collection & Exhibits page, and if audio visual storytelling is more your thing, we also have PAs telling their personal stories in their own words on our Oral History page.

November, among many other national observances, is also National Life Writing Month. Why not give writing your own brief memoir a try?

Pop Quiz: Do You Know Your PA History?

Test your knowledge of PA history by answering this question:

Which of the following advantages were gained by PAs with the passage of federal health care laws in the 1970s that were intended to improve access and quality of care to medically disadvantaged communities?

1. They opened the door for PAs to prescribe and dispense medications
2. They provided the ability for PAs to work in satellite clinics without immediate physician supervision
3. They allowed PAs to get reimbursed directly for services rendered to patients
4. They relieved the liability burden of physician/PA team practices in medically disadvantage communities

- A. 1, 2 and 3
- B. 1 and 3
- C. 2 and 4
- D. 4 only
- E. 1, 2, 3 and 4

Note: This question is one from Module Two: Creating a Unified Profession. Goal 4. Explain the impact that federal and foundation funding had in the development of the physician assistant profession.

It is one of many found in the Educational Toolkit modules that the PA History Society has produced to assist PA educational programs in fulfilling their obligation (as detailed in the ARC-PA Standards of Accreditation)"...to instruct their students in the PA profession, its historical development, and current trends..." ## Need a holiday gift for that special PA in your life? Check out these unique ideas!

Special Edition Chipper Wallet, PA-C Comic Book:

Check out this special edition comic book featuring PA Chipper Wallet of Gasoline Alley®. The comic book follows Chipper over the span of 50 years, from his experiences in the military, his adventures as a PA student and finally to his days as a pioneering PA working in a family practice clinic in his hometown. Chipper's story historically parallels that of other former military corpsmen who became PAs.

The Physician Assistant: An Illustrated History book

Flip through the history of the many people, places, and events that propelled the concept of the physician assistant from its inception at Duke University in 1965 to its position as a major force in American medicine today. It is an excellent educational resource for anyone interested in learning about the history of the PA profession.

Pop Quiz: Do You Know Your PA History?

Correct Answer: A

Feedback: The advantages of federal health care laws passed during the 1970s, such as the Rural Health Act and the Rural Health Clinics Acts of 1977, were that they enhanced the ability of PAs to (1) work in satellite clinics without immediate physician supervision, (2) prescribe and dispense medications, and (3) get reimbursed for services rendered, especially to Medicare and Medicaid patients seen in Rural Health Clinics. These laws had no impact on liability issues associated with team practice.

Honor Military and Uniformed Services PAs with an Engraved Brick Paver

The Veterans Memorial Garden located at the Stead Center/NCAPA Headquarters in Durham, NC, is the only garden dedicated to veteran and uniformed services PAs. The centerpiece of the garden is a life size bronze statue of a combat medic bandaging the wounds of a fallen soldier. The sculpture is titled “Life Savers Then ... Caregivers Now” and serves as a reminder of the origins of the PA profession. Engraved named pavers are embedded in the walkway and surrounding patio to honor veteran PAs and their service to our country.

The engraved 9×9 pavers are available for purchase. For those interested in purchasing more than one paver we offer a sliding scale: 1 for $100, 2 for $175, 3 for $250, 4 for $325 and 5 for $400. The engraved paver will include the appropriate uniformed service logo and 3 lines for name, branch and years of service.

For a list of pavers already in the Garden or additional information, please visit our website: <https://pahx.org/pa-veterans-garden/>

To order your tax-deductible brick paver(s) please visit the “PAHx Veteran Garden” site Bricks R Us <https://www.brickrus.com/order/pahxvetgarden/>

You will need the following information to complete your order: The name the brick is for, the military branch, and years of service

“My wife and I visited the memorial garden to view my stone. I just wanted to commend you [PAHx] and your team for a job well done. The garden is beautiful and the statue of the medic rendering aid to a fellow soldier was very moving (I was a corpsman with the Marines in Vietnam),” said Cary Zakrzewski, PA.

The Adventures of Chipper Wallet, PA-C

Chipper Wallet is a character from the nationally syndicated comic strip, Gasoline Alley. In 1968, Chipper Wallet joined the Navy, became a hospital corpsman, and was sent to Vietnam. When he came home in the early 1970s, he joined one of the early Physician Assistant programs on the advice of the town doctor. Chipper Wallet is credited with being one of the major influences in pop culture that brought the PA profession to the attention of the public. Chipper Wallet has a fond place in the hearts of many pioneering PAs as his journey to become a PA mirrors their own.
